CXO300

A story of British innovation

• 2007

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

Motor racing engineer David Cox formed Cox Powertrain with a vision to develop lightweight diesel engines using F1 technology.

• 2008

VISION TURNED INTO REALITY

Charles Good starts as Chairman for Cox and initiates the path towards diesel outboards and achieves £5m investment through private financial funding.

• 2010

FIRST FIRE

The first fire of Cox's concept engine and commencement of designs for the Alpha engine.

• 2013

ALPHA ENGINE

Alpha engine demonstrations begin and a more defined beta design was developed

• 2014

SIGNIFICANT GROWTH

Tim Routsis became CEO, driving the business on and taking on new premises at Shoreham (Brighton City) Airport.

• 2016

DISTRIBUTION NETWORK

Work to secure a global distributor network commences with an expected 40 distributors worldwide to support the CXO300.

• 2018

GLOBAL LAUNCH

The first pre-production units of the CXO300 were built, with landmark validation programmes starting from key marine influencers. The CXO300 launched globally in November 2018.

RETROFIT COMPATIBILITY

Although the first of its kind, as the most powerful diesel outboard brought to the market, the CXO300 has been developed to be compatible with existing industry standards – making it as easy to install on a wide range of vessels as any gasoline outboard.

DIESEL

Standard pump diesel.

NMEA

NMEA 2000 compatible.

TRANSOM

Standard outboard fitting layout. 6-bolt mounting with multi-hole adjustment.

PROP

Off the shelf. Maximum propeller diameter 16". 1.25" shaft / 19 tooth.

STEERING

Compatible with all Seastar EPS steering.

REDEFINING THE STANDARDS IN SERVICE

When purchasing a Cox diesel outboard you are buying more than an engine, you are acquiring a new level of service and care that comes standard with all our products. We have defined service standards to ensure you don't lose a week's worth of revenue, or that fishing weekend you have been planning for weeks, because your engine is down.

As a result Cox customers will be able to raise a claim through a push of a button and be assigned a case manager whose sole purpose is to manage the case every step of the way and get your engine up running as quickly as possible. The Cox after sales team will have real time visibility of each and every case to ensure our service standards are being met by our dealer network wherever you are in the world. We offer an engine substitution programs for those customers who cannot afford down time and a true 24/7 customer service to ensure there is always somebody available to attend our customers no matter the time of day, or night.
